

To study the impact of environmental factors (stress, pollutants) on myelination

To identify new signaling pathways governing myelination process

To develop novel therapeutic approaches in demyelinating pathologies

